March 09, 2019 CONSTANTINE, ALGERIA

The 8th edition of the seminary RIF “Computer Science Research at Feminine” (La Recherche en Informatique au Féminin) is organized by the women's research team of the LIRE Laboratory of Constantine 2 University. RIF 2019, held at Constantine 2 University in March 09- 2019, acts as a major forum for presenting innovative ideas, approaches, developments and research projects in the area of the Design and Analysis of Computer Systems. It aims to facilitate the exchange of information between researchers about the latest issues and advancement in computer systems. The topics suggested by the seminary can be discussed in term of concepts, surveys, implementations, running experiments, applications and industrial case studies.

Topics:

- Mobile Software Engineering and Systems
- Safety and Security of Distributed Systems
- Modern and Emerging Systems (Internet of Things, Cyber-Physical Systems, Fog Systems, Cloud Systems, etc.)
- Software Architectures, Design patterns and application frameworks
- Semantic interoperability, Ontologies and LOD, Semantic Web
- Cooperative Information Systems
- Big Data

Welcome Message from the Chairs

It's a great pleasure and honor for us to welcome you all to RIF 2019, the International Seminary on Computer Science Research at Feminine, being held in Constantine2 University, Algeria.

RIF is organized every year since 2012 by the LIRE Laboratory (Laboratoire d'Informatique REpartie). It is a scientific event open to researchers to present their research works in different topics and to exchange their theoretical and applied results.

The main objective of RIF 2019 is to provide new trends in computer system analysis and design: approaches, surveys, industrial case studies, developments and running experiments. The scientific program of RIF'19 starts with a keynote speaker by Ghada El Khayat (Ph.D. at Alexandria University, Egypt) on decision support, followed by research presentations. On the sidelines of the seminary, an oral competition is organized including general Knowledge and computer Science Knowledge. We hope that this can bring fruitful scientific exchanges.

For the success of this seminary, we thank the organizing committee members who did an outstanding job to make RIF 2019 a special event. We also are greatly indebted to LIRE laboratory, Constantine2- Abdelhamid Mehri University and NTIC Faculty for their generous sponsoring and support. We are blessed with the presence of our keynote speaker, her participation and contribution are deeply appreciated.

Finally, we thank you for participating in RIF 2019 and we truly hope you will have a rewarding experience and enjoyable time at the seminary and in Constantine.
