

CONTENTS

Message from the Chairs	iii
-------------------------	-----

PAPERS

The Daimler-Blog – A Case Study. An Analytical Approach to the Benefits of Corporate Weblogs with Respect to Company Intentions & Expectations Svenja H. Wilke	1-36
How Social Software Shifts Existing Paradigms in Corporate Knowledge Management and Learning Matthias Görtz, Oliver Bohl	37-49
Lehre ins Internet? Hindernisse und Erfolgsfaktoren für Social Software an der Hochschule Teaching online? Obstacles and Success Factors for Social Software in Academia Timo van Treeck	50-58
Wie Suchmaschinen von Social Software profitieren How Search Engines Profit from Social Software Dirk Lewandowski	59-64
Mit “People Tagging” zum Kollaborativen Kompetenzmanagement Collaborative Competency Management through People Tagging Simone Braun, Andreas Schmidt	65-71
Social Software, Wikinomics & Co: Fitness-Programm für Organisation, Kultur und Kommunikation von Unternehmen Social Software, Wikinomics & Co: Fitness Training for Companies' Organisation, Culture and Communication Michael Scheuermann	73-77